

The Cleantech Venture Seminar

The Cleantech Venture Seminar brings together select Cleantech Industry entrepreneurs with some of the world's finest venture capitalists in an exciting business pitch format.

The Seminar educates the audience about venture capital investment strategies and facilitates the investment process of worthwhile start-ups that have developed innovative solutions to improve the productive use of natural resources or support existing techniques.

Saturday, February 27, 2010

The third annual Cleantech Venture Seminar will be hosted by IESE Business School in Barcelona as a part of the DGDW Conference on Saturday, February 27, 2009.

The second Cleantech Venture Seminar, held in 2009 was a major success with 12 venture capital funds and eight pitching companies in attendance.

Venture Capitalists

- ❖ Structured venue for carefully selected Cleantech entrepreneurs seeking venture capital
- ❖ Great opportunity to network with colleagues, entrepreneurs and industry experts
- ❖ If you represent a Cleantech venture capital firm and would like to participate in the seminar, please email Mareike.Mueller@iese.net.

Entrepreneurs

- ❖ Unique opportunity to pitch to several leading venture capital firms
- ❖ Entrepreneurs receive pre-conference support from top European MBA students
- ❖ If you are a Cleantech entrepreneur and would like your company to be considered for participation in the seminar, please email Aron.Kuehnemann@iese.net.

Sponsorship opportunities

- ❖ A student-run event solely funded through corporate sponsorship, the Doing Good and Doing Well conference relies on the support of many of the world's leading companies to fulfill its mission.
- ❖ The conference provides sponsors an excellent opportunity to increase recognition of organization and brand.
- ❖ For more information on sponsorship opportunities, please contact Katharina.Lueth@iese.net.
